TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

In my teaching, I aim to foster deep learning by not only helping students understand tax technical concepts but also encouraging them to think critically about the practical and ethical problems they may face as young tax professionals. In other words, I not only teach them to understand the mechanical aspects of tax but demonstrate how the tax theory they learn in school will function real-world contexts. I also encourage and reward intellectual curiosity in my students, enabling them to explore better and apply the knowledge they have learned in meaningful ways.
